Profile

I am a professional frontend developer, I write clean code and build fully optimized and responsive websites with modern technologies like React js, javascript, tailwind, scss, css and html.

I'm creative and I pay attention to details, I excel perfectly at converting designs into a pixel perfect website.

I have great communication skills and possess the ability to relay suggestions, requests, and other information in a friendly and professional manner. I have worked hand in hand with people from different tech track to deliver quality work. I have collaborated with designers, developers and content writers to create amazing websites. I'm fluent in English both spoken and written.

My adept creativity and constant need for growth is what makes me unique and suitable for frontend developer roles.

I'm time conscious and work within the budget of my client to deliver the best to them. I work efficiently with little or no supervision hence I can be trusted to work remotely.
